president's report

Another fantastic and enjoyable season was had by players and parents in 2014. As always, the year would not have been such a success without the support and devotion of volunteers, spectators, sponsors and committee members. Thank you to everyone for your contribution and support throughout the year!

ON FIELD

Player numbers were consistent with previous years, with 375 Harlequins players participating on a weekly basis in the Minis and Juniors competitions.

As in 2013, we fielded 15 Minis teams in the Manly-Warringah Minis competition, including five teams in the U8 age group. It is very satisfying to see such strength in player numbers in the Minis competition.

As in 2013, we fielded 13 Junior teams in the Sydney Junior Rugby Union metropolitan competition in all age groups from U10s to U16s.

Player numbers traditionally fall off in the older age groups as boys' interests expand to activities beyond rugby. This has necessitated some of the Manly Village Clubs forming combined teams to ensure adequate player numbers and to ensure players compete safely in the most suitable grade. This year our U14s combined with Manly Roos and Seaforth Raiders to form two teams, playing under the name Freshwater Vikings. Our U15s combined with Manly Roos and played as Harbord / Manly, while our U16s formed a team with Manly Roos called the Manly Barbarians. All four of these merged teams had a very enjoyable and successful season. The merging of teams in these age groups is crucial to ensure we can offer safe playing opportunities and retain players at club and district level.

Congratulations to our U12As, undefeated premiers this season. This team has now taken the top prize three years in a row - a magnificent effort! And well done to our U10As, also undefeated this season... except for a 5-0 loss in the Grand Final - especially bad luck as the Harlequins have such an enviable record in the U10As, winning five out of the last nine premierships.

This year's Harlequins Cup (a Gala Day competition for U8 & U9 boys) was again a huge success. We hosted record numbers - 20 teams in each age group, with clubs travelling from Burraneer in the south, the Eastern Suburbs, North Rocks in the west and Wahroonga to the north. All contributed to an enjoyable day. For the first time this year, we saw Harlequins teams in the Grand Final of both the U8 and U9 age groups. Unfortunately the U8s just ran out of steam against a determined Hills team, while the U9s ran out convincing winners 38-0 over Seaforth. Congratulations to all players and coaches and a big thank you to the many volunteers who worked tirelessly to ensure a tremendous tournament.

The popularity of 7-a-side rugby continues to grow. This year the MJRU ran the inaugural pre-season competition at Bantry Bay in Seaforth involving the U10 to U14 age groups. The Harlequins were also again represented at the Canberra 7s Carnival with one U9 and two U10 teams making the trip to the nation's capital. It was a great experience for all the players. Congratulations to our U10 Gold team for taking out the 2014 title.

From a representative perspective, a record 73 Harlequins boys were selected to represent the Manly district across the U10 to U16 age groups at this year's State Championships. This is a fantastic effort and all the players and their coaches are to be congratulated.

This year saw a number of players progress to higher representative honours. Max Douglas was selected in the Sydney U14s, while Liam Curran, Zak De Rooy, Ben Gleeson, Gianluca Natoli, Cameron Prince, Luke Ratcliff and James Sidery were selected in the ARU Gold Pathway program and/or the Sydney Barbarians in the U15 age group. Special congratulations to these players as it is extremely difficult to gain selection into these teams.

Although not directly related to club rugby, I would also like to acknowledge and congratulate Adam Eglesz, Nesta Tutunoa, Max Von Appen and Teddy Wilson for selection in the U12 NSW PSSA team - a great achievement, so well done boys!

OFF FIELD

Thank you to Rochelle Robinson for her support as Administrator this year. It certainly makes the committee's job much easier having Rochelle manage all the club and SJRU administrative duties.

This year's social event was enjoyed at Harbord Diggers, where we got to watch the All Blacks give the Wallabies an almighty rugby lesson. Judging by the amount of cheering, the Harlequins are well represented with Kiwi families!

Our sponsorship partners continue to play an important role in the growth of the club and we especially appreciate the continued financial support of Macquarie Leasing and Dee Why RSL. This year we were also extremely pleased to welcome Toshiba as a new major sponsor. Sponsorship is an extremely important source of funds for the club, allowing registration fees to remain as low as possible. The committee encourages all Harlequins families to support our sponsors whenever and wherever possible.

Sincere thanks to two long-serving volunteers - Andrew Sidery and Campbell Forsyth - who resign from the committee this year. Andrew has served on the committee for the past seven years, including two years as President, and has contributed a great deal to the club, while always maintaining a balanced perspective and keen sense of humour. Campbell has been a tireless committee member for the past five years, serving as Minis VP, Secretary and Treasurer, and his service was all the more appreciated this year given that he didn't even have a son playing rugby. A big thanks also to Paul English, who resigns this year from the position of Juniors VP.

I wish to thank Greg Peterson and Matt Lucas from the North Harbour Rays for their attendance at this year's Presentation Day. After playing a hard-fought game against Perth Spirit the night before, Greg and Matt generously spent the morning with us congratulating players and volunteers, and their appearance was very much appreciated.

Thanks again to Alan and Kris Abbey for compiling this annual report, which they have completed now for the past nine years - another excellent job.

Lastly it is my great pleasure to confirm that Sean Richardson, this year's recipient of the Kristin Wall Award for Supporter of the Year, has also been nominated for Life Membership of the Harbord Harlequins, to be endorsed at this year's AGM. Sean has been highly involved in the club for many years, serving on the committee for six years, including two years as President. He has selflessly provided countless hours of service across a broad spectrum of activities. Congratulations to Sean on this nomination, unanimously supported by the Committee.

Thank you everyone for a tremendous 2014 season and I look forward to seeing you all nice and fresh in the New Year in preparation for an exciting 2015 season.

treasurer's report

The club recorded a net surplus for the current year of $130 (2013 $7,901).

Operating income for the year was $82,116 (2013 $83,877), derived from:

2014		2013
60%	registration & membership fees	58%
20%	sponsorship	18%
13%	gross profit from trading	15%
7%	fundraising & other	9%
100%		100%

Key factors in deriving this income were:

- Registration Fees - $49,605 (2013 $48,220).
- Sponsorship - $16,000 (2013 $15,500).
- Canteen Sales - $27,413 (2013 $26,268).
- Harlequins Cup Gala Day profit of $6,479 (2013 $6,400), which continues to be a key fundraising event. (Canteen revenue and expenses are reported under Trading Profit and have been estimated based on GP% for comparative purposes).
- Interest - $3,896 (2013 $5,010), a decrease of reflecting the lower interest rate environment.
- Merchandise sales - $2,135 (2013 $4,077), the decrease mainly due to no new designs being added to the merchandise categories, and clearing of old stock at cost.

Operating expenses for the year were $75,775 (2013 $71,102), including the following major items of expenditure:

- Jerseys, shorts & socks - $14,671 (2013 $8,954), with new jerseys purchased this season.

There was one major item of capital expenditure - PA equipment was purchased for $1,835.

I would like to thank Andrew Gourley for his ongoing and generous support of the club, including the conduct of the independent review of our accounts.

In accordance with the Associations Incorporations Act 1984 Section 26(6), financial accounts as set out on the following pages have been prepared. The club committee considers these are not misleading and give a true and fair view of the:

In addition, the club committee confirms there are no mortgages, charges or other securities of any description affecting any of the property of the club as at 30 September 2014.

INDEPENDENT REVIEW OF THE HARBORD HARLEQUINS RUGBY CLUB 2014 FINANCIAL REPORT

SCOPE

I have reviewed the Income and Expenditure Statement and Balance Sheet (2014 Financial Report) of Harbord Harlequins Rugby Club as set out on the following pages. The Club's Committee are responsible for the 2014 Financial Report. I have performed an independent review of the 2014 Financial Report in order to state whether, on the basis of the procedures set out below, anything has come to my attention that would indicate that the 2014 Financial Report is not presented fairly.

My review has been conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards applicable to review engagements. A review is limited primarily to inquiries of the Club's Committee and agreement of the 2014 Financial Report to the Club's books and records on a test basis. These procedures do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, thus the level of assurance is less than given in an audit.

STATEMENT

Based on my review, I have not become aware of any matter that makes me believe that the 2014 Financial Report of Harbord Harlequins Rugby Club does not give a true and fair view of the Club's financial position as at 30 September 2014 and of its performance for the year ended on that date.

sponsorship report

We are extremely fortunate to have the continued financial support of our sponsors. The costs associated with running the club are significant and the generous contributions from our financial sponsors allow us to keep a cap on registration fees to help keep as many boys in the game of rugby as possible.

As a club, we urge all players and their families to support all the businesses that support our club. Without their support, our club could not operate as it does.

If you are interested in associating your business with our fantastic club, then please do not hesitate to call me, as we have an option to suit most budgets.

Firstly, I would like to thank Macquarie Leasing for their continued support in 2014. They have been a loyal supporter of the Harlequins since 2010 and this year committed to a further three years with the club.

I'd like to welcome on board for 2014 Toshiba, a leading innovator in electronics, and thank them for their commitment this season.

Another new sponsor warmly welcomed to the club is Freshies Restaurant at the Harbord Beach Hotel.

And special mention to More4Life Financial Services, who kindly had a bar tab open for attendees of this year's annual social event at the Diggers.

Lastly, I would like to thank Dee Why RSL, who returned as a sponsor and plan to remain a sponsor in 2015, along with the other sponsors already mentioned.

On behalf of all the Harlequins players and supporters, I extend a big thank you to all our sponsors! We look forward to continuing a strong relationship this year and beyond.

THE MAN IN THE MIDDLE

Now in its sixth season, the Saturday morning Refereeing Kids Rugby program continues to thrive. The Harlequins club now has 10 teenagers regularly refereeing on Saturday mornings: Jack Kewin-Laurie, Daniel Hayman, Cameron Prince, Tom Herbert, Liam Davidson, Max Douglas, Luke Downman, Cameron Pitts, Tim Brigden and Luke Ratcliff, with myself there most weeks to provide feedback, advice and regular pats on the back. Most of these boys are already up to the task of refereeing older age groups and I expect they will make that step up next season.

The Harlequins club also has five guys (some young and some not-so-young) who regularly referee on Friday evenings, Saturdays and Sundays for our U10 and older age groups: Troy Andrew, Rohan Hedge, Cameron Foley, Max Douglas and myself. This number is down a little on prior years, mostly due to the fact that young adults live very busy lives, so they find it difficult to fit refereeing in around work and study commitments – oh yeah, and their active social lives!

This highlights the need for us to be constantly attracting new referees and assistant referees into our ranks. On that score, we still need more adult referees for the older age groups from U10 to U12. So that means getting more dads - and mums - accredited so they can be the man - or woman - in the middle.

After starting in 2003 as a very nervous referee (an ex-league who didn't really even know the laws of rugby), I'm now the bloke whose recreational hobby is refereeing kids rugby. It's what I do for fun and I'm sure there are plenty more Harlequins parents who would enjoy it just as much as I do.

The initial Refereeing Kids Rugby accreditation course is only three hours and is held each year in March, April and May. Then you do an open-book online test at home. If that sounds pretty easy, that's because it is!

I hope we get more Harlequins mums and dads - and teenagers - taking part next season. If you're interested, please give me a call so we can get you registered and accredited. Then you too can get out there in the middle in 2015.

Go the Harlequins!

UNDER 6 BLUE

The U6 Blues were a fantastic bunch who played with great enthusiasm and joy - exactly what sport should be about at this age. The whole team got along very well, despite the mix of Australian, Welsh, Kiwi and English backgrounds, as did the parents, who enjoyed the odd social occasion during the season.

Statistically the season was amazing, every game ending in a draw, with Player of the Day and Skill of the Week honours also shared pretty much evenly over the 18 rounds. Unbelievable!

A special thanks to Head Coach Cam Patterson and his able lieutenant Mick Holden, who gave up so much of their time for our boys. The improvement in the boys' understanding of the game and basic skill levels was amazing and they all clearly loved training and playing - a real tribute to their coaches.

A quick summary of each boy's season:

Beau 'Crazy Eyes' Patterson - Quick and aggressive, this demon tagger set the defensive standard for the team. Also knows his way to the try line. One to watch in future, particularly when he is finally allowed to tackle.

Carter 'The Howitzer' Howison - A big improver, he got stuck in each week and put in some great performances, particularly towards the end of the season. One of the best listeners in the team. Could go far.

Eddie 'McCaw' Stephens - Played to the very edge of the offside law, like the skipper of his favourite team. Improved a lot and enjoyed every minute of training and playing, although needs to work on his discipline.

Harley 'Mad Dog' Munnings - Loved all the trappings of rugby, particularly post-match snakes and woollen headgear when things got chilly. Showed his true ability when a visit to the Lego Expo was on the line.

Harrison 'Hilton' Sinton - Hard to tell these guys apart and they're not even twins! Narrowly avoided a nudie run by scoring his first try in the second last game, then promptly scored a couple more. Watch out Canberra.

Hilton 'Harrison' Sinton - The older of the Sinton boys, he was one of the more consistent performers and always tried his heart out. Again, has all the skills and a real love of the game. Hopefully ends up representing the Wallabies, not England.

Mack 'The Knife' Chisholm - Part of an impressive dance trio with Eddie and Harley at the start, Mack was slicing through the defence by the end and would go close to Most Improved Player (if we had such an award).

Oliver 'Twist' McDonald - One of the keenest 6-year-old rugby players going around. Made fools of numerous defensive screens with his speed and patented sidestep. Still owes me a snake for a bet on the last Bledisloe Cup. Keep an eye on this boy, unless he is poached by AFL.

Patrick 'The Hat Trick' Holden - Took a while to find the try line, but did so with a hat trick, then a couple of doubles soon after. Always wears a smile on his dial and puts in 100%. An important, popular member of the team.

Taj 'The Starr' Scarr - With a blistering turn of pace and a great step, on some days he just toyed with the opposition. Another one to watch.

All the best for 2015 boys. Remember to listen to your coaches and enjoy your rugby!

THE LEGO EXPO WAS ON THE LINE.

UNDER 6 MAROON

This season saw plenty of tries, tears, water fights, half-time orange-peel mouthguards, games of bullrush, tree climbing, wrestling, post-match snakes, sausage sizzles and general goofing around. Such is the lot of an U6 rugby team.

TV highlights of last-minute cover tackles and tries scored in the corner clearly filtered through to the players as we witnessed plenty of fullbacks in defence and most of our tries were scored in the corner, irrespective of the location of the nearest defender. I feel for the goal-kickers of the future.

While some of the boys picked up the concepts a little quicker than others, by mid-July we really started to hit our straps as a team and put in some top-shelf performances.

They were a terrific bunch of boys (well, most of the time) and - along with kicking off their rugby careers - they started to form a number of friendships, which was great to see. The players in a nutshell:

Harley Bennett – The veteran of the side and a quiet leader. As one of the boys said during a game in August: “Our team is really good because we’ve got Harley.” You can’t beat that.

Tyler Brown – Has outstanding kicking and passing skills for someone his age. One of about five players who felt most comfortable at fullback. This left us a little light up-front on occasion, but our cover defence was amazing.

Paddy Donnan – One half of ‘Team Donnan’, Paddy was recipient of the very occasional preferential ref’s call. Forever smiling, always polite and a keen exponent of the post-match water fight - which seemed like a good idea in May, less so in August.

Oscar Donnan – Mr Excited managed to score 98% of his many, many tries from within 3m of the try line. Never far from the action, a spot in the back row beckons; the apple hasn’t fallen far.

Harrison Fear – Where pace was lacking, effort wasn’t. The Dodger always put in 100%, then found a bit more when needed. One of the real pleasures throughout the season was seeing how excited he got when it was time to play a game of rugby with his team-mates.

Lachlan Hammond – Gliding pace, cheeky grin and one of our top long-range try-scoring merchants. You could bank on an early try from Lachie to get the Maroons off to a good start, which proved critical for team morale.

Tom Northcote – Outstanding in defence, despite giving up age and body mass to most opponents. Full contact can’t come soon enough for Tom. Opposition players be warned: behind the smile lies the next Ilivasi Tabua.

Patrick Oake – Run-ins with referees undoubtedly lie ahead. Super competitive, pace to burn with the ball in hand, and great cover defence while slotting in at his favourite position... no second guesses where.

Finn Stanley – Hit his straps towards the back end of the year once he worked out the difference between a sideline and the try line. One highlight was his defensive effort after the half-time horn... against an entire team!

Will Stewart – Training wasn’t his strong point, but come game day he surprised many, most of all himself, with plenty of weaving runs and bone-rattling defence.

I had help from a number of parents, which made the coaching task all the more pleasurable. Thanks to Saul Brown (Manager), Luke, Mick and Alison Donnan (Assistant Coach), Mark Northcote (before he took cover from the boys by joining the navy) and special mention to Matt Oake for coming down most training sessions and helping to wrangle our 10 obedient little players who always do exactly as they’re told...

White Lightning - what a team!
 Our coach Matt is real keen
 To see us become Wallabies one day
 Since we've got such talent and love to play.

Antony runs faster with tongue in cheek,
 Harry is a tackling machine, week after week,
 They all play hard, especially Seb, Tom and Sam,
 Who concentrate for as long as they can.

Ollie and Oscar often swap sides,
 James and Ayden take the game in their stride,
 Owen is tough, he likes to run for the line,
 Koby may forget his boots, but still plays fine.
 When Zade runs, his hair swirls behind him
 All such good sports, it's no wonder we win!

Jason helps Matt coach, the boys really love him,
 Our parents are troopers, with laughter they brim,
 The boys are polite, a great team we make,
 But most important of all... John, don't forget the snakes!

This season saw the boys consolidate the skills they learned in their first season of tag in the U6s. The entire skill set was evident early on - running, passing, tagging, arguing...

Later in the season we switched to tackle, which all the boys enjoyed immensely and took to with great gusto. Cooper, Teddy, Felix, Joshua, Oscar, George, Lachlan, Zack and Otis performed with distinction and all look set for a big future in rugby.

Thanks to Paul, Vince and Bill, who did a great job coaching this team.

UNDER 7 MAROON

This was the second year of minis rugby for the Maroon team, who were fortunate enough to keep the whole side from a very successful 2013. And didn't they pick up where they left off! A little bit older, faster and a lot more of an idea about what they were doing, the boys started well and just got better all season. New skills such as scrums and lineouts were practiced and quickly mastered.

But the hallmark of this side has always been defence. Opposition teams would often find themselves going backwards under smothering defence, which saw quite a few questionable tries awarded, purely to avoid total humiliation.

"That wasn't a try - he went over the sideline, he dropped the ball and he was short of the line!"

"Well just let them have it, so they don't get upset."

The highlight of the year, without question, was the last four weeks with the introduction of tackle (and almost full rules). Like every new element the boys faced, they trained early and enthusiastically, picking up new skills and techniques rapidly. When Tackle Day finally arrived, the boys were ready. And when they realised they could win the ball at any time, not just after the other team scored, they really got into it, stripping the ball and scoring at will. This allowed all the kids to get in and go for the ball and contribute to the next inevitable try. Now it wasn't just try-for-try, but a proper contest, and they loved it!

Another strength of this side was their support play. When the boys started winning opposition ball, the support fired, often scoring straight after a forced turnover.

As a coach, it's so satisfying to watch something you have taught and practiced put into action, which is why I'm so proud of this team. They learned new skills, practiced them at training, and put them into action on the field. There are plenty of talented players in this side, but more importantly they play as a team.

I would like to thank the parents for their support through the year - it really means a lot. I'm not a professional coach, just an enthusiastic dad with a bit of footy background, a booming voice and a desire to get my son away from the screens inside and do some running around outside. So I declare season 2014 a raging success. Let's do it again next year!

The Mighty Whites had a fantastic second season. We warmly welcomed three new players into the fold and I was pleased to see these new boys quickly gel with the rest of the boys from last year.

Having the Waratahs going so well makes it easier to coach and cajole. We encourage the boys to run it straight and hard like Cliffy, get as fit as Phipps, pass it like Kurtley and of course everyone wants to be like Izzy. Long may it continue.

We found our feet in the first few weeks and started to see improvements over last year: balls were caught from kick-offs, our running was straighter and more passes were thrown and caught. We even saw one outrageously good dummy, resulting in us scoring untouched under the posts, with great joy from players, coaches and parents.

July arrived and the school holidays were over. Mouthguards were back in place and the tackling began in earnest, along with a proliferation of clichés from coaches and parents. Yes indeed, the touchline is the best defender in the game. And no, they can't run without legs.

Enjoyment levels, both on and off the field, increased markedly with the advent of tackling. The boys took to it like demons in week one, backed off a little in week two, then really started to get the hang of it in the final two weeks of the season. We look forward to a full season of 'proper rugby' next year.

The season started where we left off in the U7s, with the team very much looking forward to their first full season of tackle, and with a couple of new players in the team. Some players approached tackling with gusto, some with trepidation, however throughout the year their technique and approach improved and by the end of the season every player was contributing well to the defensive effort, and looking to get hold of the ball when we attacked.

Although there was no official scoring for our games, aside from Gala Days, the boys were all acutely aware of tries scored and who had 'won' the game.

I can honestly say I was very proud of the way the team played this year, especially some of the teamwork. It's a lot harder once tackle is included to ensure everyone gets a decent amount of ball and for them to score a try, but thanks to the aforementioned teamwork and some selfless play, every player managed to score during the season - just some more than others!

As other teams improve, we'll need to get a lot better at passing the ball, rather than relying on individual brilliance to win out. This was more clear for the guys who took part in the Gala Days, where competition was a lot more fierce than in normal Saturday games.

All in all, it was a great season, even with the rain at the end of the season, but at least this gave the kids what was apparently a highlight - training in the rain! They wouldn't think it such a treat if they'd grown up in the UK.

I look forward to seeing all the boys return next year for 10-a-side rugby and the start of being more positional on a week-to-week basis.

2014 was a phenomenal year for the mighty U8 Harbord Blues. Most of the boys had played together in previous years under the coaching prowess of Ryan 'Cleanout' Blieden, with the team bolstered by a few additional recruits from overseas and locally.

The team was very fortunate to have a great balance of potential forwards and backs. Boys such as: Will (Cleanout King), James S (Smiling Enforcer), Ashton (Iceman), Finn (Terroriser) and Ethan (Thoroughbred) ensured no tries were scored up the middle, and opposition players trembled when these big boppers had the ball in hand.

As the year evolved - and after 300,000 reminders from the coach - the cleanout ball came fast for nippy halves Kai (Bone Rattler) and Hugo (Speedy Illusionist), who showed great vision and skill to either take their chances in beating the opposition or feeding their hungry backs.

Once in the backs, Coby (Mr Razzle Dazzle), Owen (Baby, I was Born this Way), Andrew (Shimmy Shimmy Woosh) and James A (All Rounder) showed great speed and agility in a clear demonstration of how rugby is played in heaven, making great runs both through traffic and in open space.

This team of potential Wallabies showed opposition teams how to work together with hard-hitting defence and great team tries scored from anywhere on the field.

With plenty of point-scoring capability, the focus was to improve our tackling and to overcome a trait bred into all of us when we see a ball on the ground: grab it and go yourself! The cleanout was drilled into the boys at every practice session, and great discipline and understanding was displayed, resulting in very cohesive training sessions that had a distinct resemblance to the great game of rugby. On game day, residents of the various suburbs on the northern beaches took it in turns to be woken by the dulcet and seemingly amplified pleas from the Coach: "CLEANOUT!!" A work in progress...

Speaking of the coach, it was said that some spectators came to Blues games just to watch Coach Ryan in action. Hobbling through games like the old rugby warhorse that he is, battling muscle strains, the impact of many post-rugby beers and on one occasion tripping over while running backwards and performing a perfect backward roll before springing to his feet - the complete Super Coach!

We were fortunate to have a great bunch of kids who gelled very well and made the season very enjoyable for all involved. Thank you to the very passionate parents, who dragged their young prodigies out of bed on Saturday mornings and got them to the game in time, most of the time, with mouthguards at the ready. The Blues get such great support and the parents are all great ambassadors for the great Harbord Harlequins Rugby Club!

The 2014 season was a huge step forward for the Rooooooooooooooooons. It was a full year of taaaaaaaaaaaaackle; the game of catch and kiss was finally behind us. Once again all our veterans from last year returned for another season. We also received a pleasant injection of speed, power and agility with some new players, who slotted into the team very well, and it was great to witness their enthusiasm to understand the game ASAP.

On our day, we were one of the best U8 teams on the Northern Beaches. Some players would tackle themselves into a coma with technique that you just can't teach - they were naturals! Then there were boys who were always at the breakdown first, fighting it out for the ball and always found at the bottom of the ruck, sampling the mud - future loose forwards I reckon.

Like most teams, we had the speed specialists: the razzle-dazzlers, future outside backs who were happy to see others do the tackling and mud-eating. They understood their talent and where their energy was best spent. These boys we called the Fringers - waiting on the fringe of the ruck for the ball to pop out, then swooping on it like a seagull on a chip, and roaring their way to the try line, diving from three metres out to score the try! Once back on their feet, the mandatory comb would be pulled from the sock and appearances recalibrated. Yes, true Backs are born, and we wouldn't change a thing about them. Which is what's great about rugby - there's a position for everyone.

It was a great season. Every boy was polite, keen at training and played his hardest on game day. They were simply a great bunch of kids. I am quietly confident we will have an even better season next year because we laid such a great foundation this year.

With both trepidation and courage, the Mighty Whites embarked on their 2014 season. Their short experience of tackling last season, almost forgotten, had given them some insight into what they needed to do to compete in the big time. They knew they had a long way to go. They needed to develop a whole raft of new skills and they needed to build their inner strength. Most of all, they needed to start playing as a team.

At the start of the season, they were perhaps at their most courageous. Leading the charge from the front were Ollie and Felix, taking on all comers, no matter how big, with great enthusiasm. But after a couple of heavy defeats, the whole team began to realise they needed more than a couple of strong players to perform well.

They doubled down at training, working on their tackling, cleaning out and support play. The coaches, Jason Pitkeathly and myself, didn't hold back, pushing them hard week after week, while team manager Lyndsay Hendry made sure they were there for every game and training session.

The team responded. Ash and Lachie started to show their true potential, taking the opposition head-on. Isaac and Tristan started to demonstrate their ability to run and break through tackles to score tries. Angus, with his jinky runs, and Fin, with his out-and-out pace, started piling on the points. Austin and Caelan, two of the fastest, showed great commitment with their support play, scoring quite a few tries as a result.

As the season progressed, so did the team, working together and working for each other - cleaning out, running off the ball, and supporting and trusting each other. By the end of the season, this was no ramshackle U8s team worried about tackling; this was a team ready for the big time of U9s rugby in 2015.

The boys did their coaches and manager proud by taking on teams bigger than themselves and winning, week in and week out.

Special mention to the parents, whose support through the season made this transformation possible.

The Mighty Whites - mighty at the start, and so much mightier by the end. What a season!

Another year draws to a close and we look back on what was a great season for the U8 Green Machine. While some boys were playing their fourth or fifth seasons together, we also welcomed some new and returning members to our team. We set about getting to know one another and building those important relationships that make a good team. U8s and fulltime tackling was also an exciting prospect and something everyone had been looking forward to all summer.

Once the season was underway, we watched the boys develop their individual and team skills week by week. In each game, everyone had a great time, executed amazing tackles, slipped through the slimmest of gaps, threaded the ball through the smallest hole and scored amazing team and individual tries. Week after week, parents and supporters had as much fun cheering the boys on from the sideline as the boys had playing our great game on the field. Looking at the teams within the team, we need to acknowledge the players:

The Engine Room: Lucas (the Lionheart), Nick (the Demolition Man), Cooper (the Cleanout King) and Asher (Mr Go Forward) led from the front all year. 99 times out of 100, you would see at least two or three of these guys up front, pumping their legs to drive the team forward. It was fantastic to watch our powerhouse forwards score tries, often with three or four opposition players hanging off them.

The Backs: Well, what can you say about the backs? Regular hair appointments and pre-game lattes all sorted, our backs found a way to play their part. They got in and helped the forwards when needed, developed some great running, passing and tackling skills, and of course scored some great tries to cap it off. Ollie (Try Machine), Kai (Mr Defence), Alec (the Axe), Harley (Pocket Rocket), James (Teflon Man) and Cameron (White Line Fever) all played some great rugby and, like their men up front, enjoyed themselves and always played in the spirit of the game.

That just leaves the coaches - our fantastic and amazingly patient dads who did a great job teaching the boys new skills and getting them ready each week. Thanks to Rolf Cohen and Nick Bridgewood for all the time and effort you put into our team again this year.

So that's it for 2014. We can't wait for season 2015 - I'm sure it will come around quickly.

AN ODE TO HARBORD HARLEQUINS U9 GALA DAY TEAM

Matt Dixon, Coach

We came together to create a team with victory far away, it seemed.

A real distracted rabble at first,
at King of the Hills our bubble burst.

That first loss made our voices hoarse, so back to the drawing board, of course.

We had just one more chance of success, hard work was the recipe, no less!

A few extra sessions to drill the skill,
Harlequins Cup our last chance to thrill.

We scraped through early on the day, knocking 'em over to pave our way.

In the last pool games, we started to click, teamwork and tackling did the trick.

Through to the semi and "Geez, they're big",
the boys get worried: "Can we stop that big rig?"

They gathered in a circle and pulled in tight, stared each other in the eye: "We're up for the fight."

Well what a performance, the boys shut them down, then piled on the points, their belief was sown.

Now the final against Seaforth, who are so fast, reigning Hills champs just two weeks past.

The mighty Harlequins warm up flat, minds off with the fairies, so distracted like that.

Then just before running onto the field,
they connect in a huddle: "Our defence won't yield."

"This is our biggest game, it's time to combine."
And didn't they deliver, oh boy did they shine!

What a performance, the rugby did flow,
U9s? No way! It was too good a show!

They swamped 'em and knocked 'em over and back,
the rucking was fearsome, the cleanout went WHACK!

The running, the passing, the drive forward was ace,
the tries started to flow, Seaforth must chase.

The boys lifted together, "No way will you pass", so our try line stayed clean, we had too much class.

We piled on the points, 38-0 was the score,
the final hooter sounded and loud the crowd roared.

The boys jumped for joy, wild happiness, "Yes, yes!"
Harlequins are champions, we've passed the big test!

There once was a team named Gold,
After creating them, they broke the mould.

Josh came first, right down the wing,
Jed backing him up with his usual zing.
Nic through the middle, straight over the ball,
Swearing 'I don't want a try at all!'

Ruben was there in the thick,
Ripping and snarling - if only we could kick.
Callum at the base of the scrum,
Always looking for that cheeky run.

This year anew came Leroy, wow how he played,
A dodge and a dart, his enthusiasm never swayed.
Paddy tackling like a demon on the hunt,
His attack always pointed, never blunt.

Down in the thick you could always find Jake,
Proving his need for headgear wasn't fake.

Jordy was a man with a plan:
I'll just rip the ball and run straight at that man.
Jack, 'Use those legs!', we all cried from the side,
As his mother screamed and shouted out bribes.

And then there was James,
With a step so big, defenders wondered where he aims.
Fast and quick, with a dart and a dash,
And when it came to kicking, he gave it a good bash.

The coaches appreciated the efforts of all those above,
The boys from Gold, whom we all love.
And so it comes to pass, Gold will forever be
The number 1 team for Richard, Justin, Dave and me.

In the U9 Blue team, we started with 12 registered players, but ended up with 11 after one left for the UK halfway through the season. Another boy suffered a fractured ankle (unrelated to rugby), so we were often reduced to 9 or 10 players and had to draw on boys from other Harlequins teams to field a side. Yet none of that had any impact on the way we played, turning out very strongly for every match. This was all the more remarkable given that one-third of the team were eligible to play U8s.

The boys were committed at training and improved with every game, showing real insight into the rules of rugby. Their understanding of play at the breakdown was truly inspiring and the move to U9s seemed to bring out the best in them in terms of tackling, passing and backing up the player with the ball. No player stood out more than another in terms of passion for the game and enthusiasm to compete. Each of them gained a thorough understanding of the U9s game and their individual roles on the field each weekend.

The boys played each game with a real sense of fair play and respect for the opposition and their team-mates. The players would often be seen helping a team-mate up from the ground or checking on an opposition player who might have been injured. They showed genuine respect for the young referees and the decisions made on the field. That was not just maturity, but a reflection of their wonderful parents who brought their kids to training and games - rain, hail or shine - and who helped out at practice or on game day. The team was blessed with fantastic parents who supported not only their own sons, but the team as a whole, which contributed to the group's overall development and successes.

This year was really productive, with all the boys improving in all aspects of their rugby.

Initially we had six players returning from last year, some having played together for three or more years. With the influx of six new players to rugby, the team improved each week.

We progressed especially well at the breakdown in defence, and saw good improvement in set plays, scrums and lineouts. With each game, it seemed the boys became more enthusiastic. Concentration levels improved and they stayed focused for the entire game.

Introducing positions in the forwards and backs helped this year. We saw a big lift in their understanding and knowledge of the game of rugby.

All in all, the coaches and managers couldn't be happier with, or more proud of, the effort the players put in throughout the season.

UNDER 9 WHITE

Rugby season 2014 started out with a few challenges for the Mighty Whites, since Cooper 'Don't Call Me Baby Face' Cowen stayed in the U8s and Oisen 'Silent But Deadly' McKay moved to soccer to work on his kicking skills. With player numbers a bit tenuous, team management kicked into gear in the free agent market, bringing in a number of very capable players. Fortunately we had Matt 'The Factor' Dixon and Mike 'Overflow' Clancy installed as coaches, so were confidently anticipating a successful and enjoyable year.

The boys did a great job building on their skills from last year. They were enthusiastic at training (although not always attentive) and always played in the spirit of the game. There was even a hint of playing with some shape on the field. Most importantly, they all had a lot of fun. The future of community rugby is in good hands. The roster of the Mighty Whites:

Albert 'Crazy Legs' Ingleton – building from last year, he became a master of pilfering loose ball and taking it forward. His decision-making was superb, knowing when to go wide and when to go up the middle, making him an offensive threat from anywhere on the field. Like Israel Folau, opposition coaches would assign three or four players to shut him down, to no avail.

Bailey 'Golden Boot' Foster – a pre-season transfer from Manly Roos, he made an immediate impact. His intuitive understanding of the game, tremendous ball skills and hard-nosed attitude were an asset to the team.

WITH EACH GAME, IT SEEMED THE BOYS BECAME MORE ENTHUSIASTIC. CONCENTRATION LEVELS
IMPROVED AND THEY STAYED FOCUSED FOR THE ENTIRE GAME.

We could have nicknamed him 'Side Step', although they tended to be more of the Maori variety.

Ewen 'The Tractor' McBean – displayed the same physical presence as last year, while also showcasing his surprising speed. From chasing down wingers to dominating forwards, he was a valuable part of a dominant pack and will be causing headaches (and body aches) for opposition forwards for years to come.

Hugh 'Goosestep' Waddington – one of the shiftier ball-runners to come through the club in recent years, his platinum blond hair always made a distinct impression as he wove between grasping defenders, making it much easier for opposition coaches to identify which player had just shredded their defence.

Jack 'All Black' Rankin – also known as 'Hat Trick' Rankin. Do not let his size or demeanour lull you into a false sense of security. A committed defender, he is also very capable in attack (as demonstrated by multiple hat tricks) and is ferocious at the breakdown - a triple threat!

Jesse 'Cool Hands' Dixon – often lining up at first receiver, he was the playmaker of the group. Holding the ball out in front, taking on the defensive line, running hard to keep the defence in two minds and putting his outside backs into space, he has vision and ability not seen since Kurtley Beale was a schoolboy. We've been told he takes after his father, but no one really believes this.

Levi 'Tall Timber' Smith – the thing about Tall Timber is, as the game wears on, it doesn't get any smaller. Tremendous pace for a big man, he outruns other backs, physically dominates forwards and has vision for the game normally only seen in Grade. Chased by other clubs for his signature, we have managed to lock him down at the Harlequins for at least another two seasons.

'Big' Levi Welsh – provided the team with another big forward, and Pete Rankin the opportunity to roll out a dad joke: "Now we all have a new pair of Levis". The body of a front-rower, yet the grace, poise and vision of a fullback, he was a welcome addition to the team. Has a fantastic future at the club, most likely with a number less than 6 on his back (assuming we used numbers).

Lio 'Les Blues' Vichemont – maintained silky running, passing and breakdown work, while adding 'ball pilfering' to his repertoire. Opposition forwards often ran at him, hoping for easy passage, only to end up on the ground, or watching as Lio scampered to their try line with ball in hand.

with trademark aggressive running and breakdown work, making our boys very happy that he plays for the Whites. His passion for the game shows and he has the ability to make players around him lift in a way not seen since, well... ever!

Oscar 'Rubber Man' McMillen – went to a whole new level this year, with blinding speed, dazzling footwork and intensity at the breakdown. Almost impossible to bring down. We previously made comparisons with Michael Hooper, but now Tim Horan would be more appropriate.

Tom 'The Assassin' Porter – the player we counted on to dominate the opposition's best players, both on the scoreboard and in the frequency with which they ended up on the ground. Watching this kid track opposition speedsters down the sideline and put them into touch is like watching a David Attenborough documentary.

It was another great season for the Mighty Whites, with all the boys developing excellent skills that should see them through to next year. The coaches and I really enjoyed our time with such a great group of boys and parents. I look forward to seeing everyone back next year with ongoing participation in a great sport within a fantastic community.

As this was our first year of graded rugby, many of the boys had never played together before. It was interesting to watch the dynamics in the first few games, with boys picking and choosing who they would pass to based on who they knew, rather than who was in the best position. This changed after a few weeks of training, as all the boys got to know each other and developed confidence in one another. Positional play started to take shape and the passing game quickly developed.

It was nearly a perfect season on the scoreboard, undefeated before the finals and finishing with 317 points for and 82 against. The boys showed pure determination in each game, with great strength in the forwards and great skills in the backs.

The finals were all won... except for the Big One! We played Chatswood for the third time in a row in horrific conditions. We were the last game of the day after six earlier games, so the paddock was a mud pit. We got over the line four times, only to be held up, or have the try disallowed. With just a few minutes on the clock, and the score at nil-all, Chatswood picked up a loose ball and scored to win 5-0. The look of devastation on the boys' faces told it all. But that's rugby and when the dust settled (or rather the mud dried), the boys took it on the chin and found their smiles again. I'm sure it was a great learning experience and they will all look back on the season with great memories.

Thanks to the great coaches, the boys finished the year much better players than they were at the start. They became a cohesive team and a great group of mates. Thanks to the coaches: Damien Cummins, Brandon Ward and Dave Warneford.

2014 was a great season for the U10 Blues. Coach Dan Simpson did a superb job to increase the skill level of the boys, all while making them feel good about their contribution to the team and giving them plenty of praise when deserved.

We started off in C grade, but after comfortably winning the first four games were promoted to B grade, which was a very tight competition. Only one side, Wahroonga, really stood above the rest and could easily have played in A grade. All the teams in B grade, except us, were the highest graded team for their club. While this shows the great depth of the Harlequins in U10s - winning five of the last nine U10A Premierships - it does mean hard yards for our second-string team in this age group.

Our match with Drummoyne saw some drama and fireworks, with the Drummoyne coach abusing the ref, then marching his boys off the field to forfeit the game with 10 minutes still on the clock. I don't think we'll be seeing too much more of that coach.

We had a number of big boys in our pack, so the scrum was solid and the boys often pushed the opposition off the ball and won numerous tight heads. And with some tall timber at the front, we rarely lost a lineout, even on the opposition throw. The rucking and mauling at the start of the season was sloppy, but by the end of the year the forwards were really ripping in at the cleanout and using their body height and strength to advantage.

The backs managed to spin the ball wide and plenty of tries were scored by the wingers. The five-eighth also developed a strong kicking game as the season wore on, which worked to our advantage. There were no weak links and the defence was very solid. In plenty of games, we defended our line for lengthy periods to hold the opposition out.

Despite finishing fifth, we always felt we had a chance of winning the comp, but unfortunately were outplayed in the final game of the season by competition leaders Wahroonga.

2014 was a year that can be best described as Before and After.

We started the season with a lot of boys who had never played before, while those boys who had played were a little disillusioned that the team would be playing in F grade. However, with a lot of drill work, along with plenty of yelling and screaming, the boys moulded into a team that played to its strengths and achieved a lot.

The team's best win was in the Plate Grand Final, beating Lindfield 43-0. This was achieved despite having drawn with Lindfield in both the games played against them this season. This big win reflected how far the team had come in a season that could best be described as a proud, winning and satisfying one.

UNDER 11A GOLD

The Golds had a great year, albeit with salary cap constraints often limiting our numbers to just one reserve, if we were lucky. Some of the tries we scored during the year were simply outstanding. It was not uncommon for more than eight sets of hands to touch the ball in length-of-the-field try-scoring efforts.

Most noticeable was that we had a very skilful pack, with Big Al terrorising the opposition with ball in hand, followed by the no-nonsense, hard-running Jordan and the brutal Oz, who played with a fierce passion. The brutes were backed up by tireless workers, including Ryan, Myles and Tommy, who played well above their weight and did a lot of the hard, dirty work. We are forever grateful to Connor for selflessly bringing spark and grit to the pack, when in fact he has all the skills and talent to star in any backline.

Our backline was often electric to watch. Kobe became the consummate cattle dog in goading the forwards to work harder, before flinging the ball out to the backs. The Jedmeister was always inventive and made some memorable punishing tackles. Our speedsters Andy and Roman were the antithesis of each other - one pure speed, guile and an intuitive sense of where to be, the other a reincarnation of the original guru, power and more power. Sam and Seb, two of the most intelligent players going around, were a pleasure to coach and both made outstanding and memorable breaks during the year. Isaac was our half-forward/half-back, decimating teams when in his GI mood, a lad with as yet untapped potential.

We beat, and drew with, the leading teams in the comp, and bar some injuries etc at the wrong end of the season, we could have really made a dent, however the brand of footy played was a credit to the attitude of the boys.

A massive thank you to our superb manager Ali Davidson and great co-coach Rich Smith. Thanks also to all the parents who helped during the year.

UNDER 11D BLUE

We had an interesting start to the season, with a number of players moving up to the Gold team and some new additions to our squad. This meant we ended up on the wrong end of some hefty scorelines in the first four games while playing in C grade. Fortunately we were then regraded into D grade, where we were much more competitive.

It was a season of highs and lows for the boys and the coaches, with some great wins and disappointing losses. We soon worked out that we weren't very good at coming from behind on the scoreboard (with a couple of notable exceptions) and we also liked to score tries going downhill when playing at home!

Once again our player size was an issue, especially against big teams such as Hills and Hornsby, creating the challenge of playing with very little possession. A lack of players wanting, or able, to play in the forwards meant that some players were press-ganged into playing away from their preferred position, and I'd like to thank all the boys who helped out in this way. Another challenge was squad size, and we constantly had to rely on the goodwill of players from Gold or Maroon to boost our numbers, so special thanks to Ryan Crane, Seb Jones and Charlie Mulcahy for playing in our team so often, as well playing in their own team.

Highlights for me were some of the good tries we scored (a 105-metre try at Newport was one of the standouts) and the team effort in going hard right to the end of the season, just missing out on the semis. All in all, the boys can be proud of their season and I hope to see them all back next year when we move to 15-a-side. Enjoy the summer break.

My rugby coaching career began when Barry Smyth turned up with the team gear bag at my business two days before the first game and said, "You're going to have to coach them. You're all we've got."

When I last played rugby 30 years ago, there were no gates and we rucked blokes off the ball with metal sprigs. My lack of current rugby knowledge and the thought of having to control 15 ten-year-old lunatics - and, even worse, dealing with their parents - had me seriously concerned. Thankfully, I need not have worried. They were a great bunch of kids and a delightful group of supportive, positive and fun parents. And luckily for me, my nephew Anthony Bergelin, fresh from playing eight years of rugby with Manly, agreed to assist me with the coaching.

Six of the team had never played rugby, so it was always going to be a tough season. As far as results go, it certainly was. We spent the first seven rounds getting flogged, although not through lack of trying. The kids had heart and pace, but lacked the basic skills of tackling, passing and protecting the ball.

Drill after drill of protecting our tackled player, and doing good cleanouts, started to pay dividends. Our tackling also improved immensely. We started recycling the ball and our speedy winger Nathan Black was running in superb tries. Fletcher Gee and Jesse Blaikie, both quick and powerful runners, constantly smashed through the defence, scoring great individual tries. Saxon Reber set up the outside backs with strong running and great ball skills. With extra ball and room to move, Thomas Brown, Tully Stack and Matthew Camiller were making breaks all over the field and passing cleverly to gain valuable metres. At halfback, Nelson Hill made quick, smart breaks, resulting in several tries, while his tackling was outstanding. Tully Stack also put over some great conversions.

U11F Maroon

The backs get the glory, but the real work is done in the forwards. Ryland Havenstein, Kieran Deane and Jed Langby muscled up in the front row and won much-needed ball. Sam Tooth, Jesse Steele and Joe Lord drove in hard to every breakdown and made strong runs. Playing in every forward position, Charlie Mulcahey was a great asset, a clever ball runner who made many breaks.

All the players showed great improvement as the season progressed. In the last four rounds, we only lost by a conversion or two against the same teams that had flogged us earlier in the year. Anthony and I are very proud of the boys for their guts and determination and for never giving up, and we hope they all back up next year.

A special thank you to Katrina Black for her outstanding job as manager and to Brian Black and Todd Steele for sideline duties. Thanks to all the parents for getting the players to training and games on time, and for their positive feedback and support for the job we were doing. I'm sure our contract won't be renewed, but Bergo and I thoroughly enjoyed the gig and we hope the players did too. Go the Maroons!

UNDER 12A GOLD

2014 was another exceptional year for this talented team. Of the team's three Grand Final wins, this was perhaps a little more special as it needed the boys to adapt to proper 15-a-side rugby. To create a squad of 20, we also had six new boys - four from last year's Blue team and two new players to the club. It was clear early on that the new boys were not just going to fit in, they would add a lot of quality on and off the field, and they were immediately welcomed by the current players.

We knew we had to change our game slightly this season to accommodate the three extra positions - flankers and fullback - and to try to keep ahead of the competition. Once again the boys adapted quickly and continued to improve from last year. The result was another undefeated season.

What was pleasing with the group was their ability to work hard for each other and play the game in the right spirit. They always put the team structure and culture ahead of individual rewards.

In the semi-finals, they defeated arch rivals Manly Roos 32-5 to book a place in the Grand Final against the new boys on the block, the Western Raptors. If anyone saw this team, they would agree our boys were outsized by a ratio of 2:1 per player. But our boys had a point to prove against the Raptors, since many of their players were in the Penrith side that won the State Champs against our Manly Marlins.

The plan in the Grand Final was to come out of the blocks fast and run their big boys around. It worked a treat, with a half-time lead of 29-0 and a full-time score of 48-27. A highlight was seeing all the boys - from both teams - forming a circle to pray at fulltime. Another was seeing all three of our props scoring a try during the match!

This year saw a heavy representative schedule for most of the boys, with 16 of the 20 boys in the team playing for the Marlins rep teams. Many of the boys were also picked in various school rep teams.

As with last year, we were able to give some of the boys from the Blue team a run and they all performed really well. Thank you to those boys for helping out. Hopefully the experience holds them in good stead for next year.

A big thank you to team manager Katrina Martin for keeping us organised, Dan Gartner as physio and water runner, and Jason Little's invaluable input at training and on game day. Thank you to all the parents for running around getting the boys to games and training. It's a really good group, making it all the more enjoyable.

Lastly and most importantly, thank you to the boys. You are a special group, not only skilful and talented, but also a pleasure to coach and a real credit to yourselves, your family and your club. Enjoy a well-earned rest over summer!

UNDER 12C BLUE

It is difficult to argue that the U12 Blues did not overachieve this season. After mixed early results, once the competition proper started, it looked like the side would do it very hard in a C grade brimming with 'A' teams. The side began by winning games, mostly by the narrowest of margins, building momentum bit by bit.

These early wins weren't pretty; they were based primarily on a never-say-die defensive effort. In one game against Dural, a last ditch 'Greganesque' tackle to deny a try after the final whistle helped us secure a 5-nil win. This defensive strength was fortified by a great team bonding event, where we saw the Waratahs in action at the SFS, compliments of Rochelle Robinson and the Marlins.

A turning point of the season was the 15-0 win over an aggressive Roos team at Keirle Park, where the side discovered that front foot ball, and speed to the breakdown, could make up for size inadequacies. Soon after, the backs began to play with more consistency and confidence. Against Dee Why, for example, a 'rangy' backline move literally parted the opposition waters, resulting in a magically clear path to the line and a try right under the posts. Perhaps the crowning glory was the 35-0 away win against Hawkesbury, where our ball retention and patience was simply outstanding, leading to a six-try rout at the back end of the game.

Going into the semis, some players were unavailable, but with a hardworking pack and skilful backs, the team remained confident. Unfortunately, the opposition teams had beefed up (literally) and the Blues went down in the major semi to Newport, then to Hawkesbury in the preliminary final. Although these losses were disappointing, the boys never gave up and showed their true character with gutsy and heroic performances against bigger teams.

Thanks for the support of the parents, our amazing manager Ryan Blieden, trainer Jason Hatvany and U12A coach Rob Gallacher for helping at training from time to time.

Philip Reid, Coach

THESE EARLY WINS WEREN'T PRETTY;
THEY WERE BASED PRIMARILY ON A
NEVER-SAY-DIE DEFENSIVE EFFORT.

UNDER 12F MAROON

This was a season of firsts for the U12 Maroons. Lots of the boys were playing rugby for the first time. We also had a first-time coach and a first-time manager. Fortunately, we also had the wise guiding hand of Ross Whitfeld, who played a coaching role in past seasons.

NO MATTER WHERE THEY WERE ON THE FIELD, THEY WOULD RUN
THE BALL. THE LAST TRY OF THE YEAR WAS A PERFECT EXAMPLE
– BACKING EACH OTHER UP TO SCORE A 90-METRE TRY WITH
THE BALL GOING THROUGH 10 PLAYERS' HANDS.

From our first training session, the boys' enthusiasm was obvious. We had a great bunch of kids who were willing to learn, work hard and have fun. Training focused on getting the basics right and building the boys into a team.

What our boys lacked in size, they made up for with speed. No matter where they were on the field, they would run the ball, resulting in many long-range tries. The last try of the year was a perfect example – backing each other up to score a 90-metre try with the ball going through 10 players' hands. It was a joy to watch!

The boys' defence was first class throughout the entire season and our opposition always had to work hard to cross our line. Our defence remained rock solid, so we never had a blow-out on the scoreboard.

Our forwards punched well above their weight and size. When we began playing contested scrums at the end of the season, we would win most scrums, including many against the feed.

Our backs scored tries that would make the All Blacks proud - quick hands, backing up and letting the ball do the work.

The team's goal was to make the semi-finals, so we were very pleased to finish third on the ladder. The boys played well and hard, and the positive experience for both the players and parents made it worth all the hard work.

A big thanks to all the parents for their support. We had a great bunch of families and many dads helped out at both training and games. Special thanks to our ever-reliable linesman, Peter Hood.

With more wins than losses, I'm sure we'll see a lot of the boys back next year and hopefully go one step further in the 2015 Grand Final.

UNDER 13A GOLD

It was a year of ups and downs for the U13A Gold team. After some initial juggling of numbers, we welcomed into the team some new boys, who rose to the challenge and played some outstanding rugby this season.

The boys got off to a great start and our early season form was excellent. We won our first three games, then went down to Lindfield in round four in a nail-biting game. After the regrading, however, we lost the benefit of the first few wins.

At around this time, we experienced a number of injuries - some season-ending and some that continued to niggle throughout the season.

Another challenge facing us was the sheer size of some of our opponents. Physically it was tough for our boys, but what they lacked in size they made up for in sheer determination. They never backed down, even to some very big opponents.

A large group of our boys were selected in the U13 Manly rep team. Unfortunately, two of them were injured and had to sit it out. The team competed well and went through undefeated in their pool, but their lack of size and the injury count let us down in the end and we finished fourth.

At the end of the season, we failed to make the semis, but the boys muscled up in every game and we couldn't be more proud of them. It was tough on them to lose a few more than usual this year, but it fuelled them on even more and strengthened their bond as a team.

A huge thank you goes out to Meryl Campbell for her outstanding work as team manager, and to John Perego for his work as our game day manager. Grant Morrell, Tim Blank and Mark Zanon also deserve a round of applause for their efforts on the sidelines as our touchies. Big thanks to the great parent crew for their running around to and from training and games, and for their support throughout the season.

We cannot leave out the fantastic bunch of boys, most of whom have been together for a number of years now. It's been a pleasure to coach these boys and to see their enthusiasm and commitment. We look forward to seeing them all back on the field next year, hopefully with some extra kilos and a few extra inches on them!

UNDER 14 FRESHWATER VIKINGS

This year saw the creation of the Freshwater Vikings in the U14s. Harbord Harlequins merged with Manly Roos and Seaforth Raiders since each club had insufficient players to form a team. This meant we had a total of 44 registered players. After a series of internal trials, we formed two teams, graded in B and D. Each club contributed coaches and managers to help run the teams. Reub Hudson was chosen as our home ground and training space.

A new Freshwater Vikings jersey was created, incorporating colours from each of the three clubs and emblazoned with a fierce Viking logo. These jerseys were generously provided by club sponsor Toshiba, in addition to their financial sponsorship. The boys loved this new jersey and wore it with pride.

Early form was mixed, with both teams needing to understand new player combinations, and coaches needing to identify the right player for the right position. All the coaches worked hard to ensure the players enjoyed their football and focused on the joint goals of improving their individual skills and contributing to the team's success.

As the season progressed, we saw two strong, competitive teams emerge. The Gold team worked hard all season, but without much luck. They finished the year on a high with some strong wins, but unfortunately left their run a bit late and just missed out on the finals. The Blue team, once regraded from D to E, had an even stronger season, but also fell short in the race for the finals, needing just one more win.

Ten players were selected for the Manly rep team, which performed well above expectations, and the Vikings boys acquitted themselves well at this level.

Congratulations to Will Abbey and Mitchell Lockie, who received their 10-year Harlequins medals - not a bad achievement in the U14s!

While we didn't see any trophies this season, the Vikings became two skilful and dynamic teams, playing an expansive brand of rugby that was good to watch and that the boys enjoyed playing. Moving forward, the squad is already talking about the 2015 season, and with a little luck and the continued efforts of those involved, we should see even better results. Go the Vikings!

Paul English, Age Group Manager

UNDER 14B GOLD

Well this team showed much promise and had some very good players. The opposing teams in B grade were strong, but we felt we could beat any of them if we played to our potential. Yet somehow we didn't quite get ahead on the scoreline in games we should have won, and these narrow losses proved costly in our quest to make the semis.

However I still rate the season a great success. We may have started slow, but once we started to click as a team we played some very good rugby. The Vikings boys were all here because they were the 'stayers' in their respective clubs - they were still playing because they love to play and were not yet ready to leave the game. So they were always going to enjoy their rugby - win, lose or draw - which is what we want to see more than anything else.

I really enjoyed coaching the boys and thank them for being part of this group. They were not always so good at listening, but then they are 14-year-old boys after all. I can say they were not here to waste their time - you could see they were all very keen to improve their skills and their performance as a team. And that is all a coach can ask for. Although actually I often did ask for more, and the boys always did their best to do what I asked.

Much credit must go to Neil Barnett, who took charge of the backs. Neil is an excellent coach and we were very lucky to have such a knowledgeable coach to show the boys what they needed to do. Once we were regularly getting over the advantage line in the backs and outfoxing the defence we had more success.

Thanks to all the dads who assisted, especially Pete Ellis for running the boys ragged at training, and Mania Marsters for his words of wisdom at training and games. Thanks to Paul English and Blithe Robinson for all the back room stuff required to get the Vikings off the ground, and to get the two teams on the paddock each week. I know this was a lot of work and really appreciate the effort they made to keep all our young men playing rugby.

Palale Semisi, Coach

THEY WERE STILL PLAYING BECAUSE THEY LOVE TO PLAY AND WERE NOT YET READY TO LEAVE THE GAME. SO THEY WERE ALWAYS GOING TO ENJOY THEIR RUGBY - WIN, LOSE OR DRAW - WHICH IS WHAT WE WANT TO SEE MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE.

UNDER 14E BLUE

The start to our season was pretty haphazard. I remember turning up to coach our first game with almost no knowledge of the players, other than the five Harlequins from last year. I did know I needed a fly-half. Badly. I'd intended to play my own son there, but he'd been picked in the other team. "Who's keen to play five-eighth?" I asked hopefully, 11 minutes before kickoff, when all the players had finally arrived. "I will!", was the enthusiastic reply from a likely looking lad. "Hey, I like the sound of that", I said. "Have you played much at five-eighth before?" "Never", he chirped happily. "Oh OK, so have you played much rugby before?" "Never!", he repeated, just as enthusiastically. And he wasn't kidding.

Who would have guessed that within a few months we'd be playing some awesome footy, and having a ball while we did it. I would! Because I've seen it happen every year for the last 10 years that I've coached at this club. This is what keeps the boys - and their dads - coming back. When the pieces start falling into place, it's just so damn pretty to watch.

In the end we missed the finals by a whisker. We needed to win our last game against St Ives, but it was declared a washout just as we arrived. We played anyway, on the adjacent field, since its swimming pool was marginally smaller than the one on our allotted field! Despite the result not counting, or perhaps because of it, the game was a cracking, end-to-end, hard-fought, evenly-matched contest played in great spirit, and the boys came off totally spent, totally soaked - and I think totally stoked with how far they had come as a team.

It was a fun season. I especially enjoyed working with all the new dads from our joint venture at the squad training sessions. Echoing in my head is Palale's rolling call of "OVER!OVER!OVER!" (that's one word, by the way) whenever the forwards were tardy to the breakdown. And I'm sure the boys appreciated the quiet, wise words of backs coach Neil Barnett, who was a great asset in developing their attacking game.

Thanks to my witty assistant coach Andrew Black (the 'Village Idiot' in our team photo above - his words, not mine), team manager Mark 'I've Got it Covered' Twidell, fitness trainer Pete 'No Pain No Gain' Ellis and squad manager Paul 'Moving Forward' English. Special thanks to the club's all-round guru Bliithe 'I Know I Sound Pissed But I'm Not' Robinson, and of course Colin House and the rest of the Harlequins committee for maintaining the platform to allow the magic to happen.

We are all very proud of how well the boys played this year and hope they're keen for another crack next year.

Alan Abbey, Coach

THIS IS WHAT KEEPS THE BOYS
- AND THEIR DADS - COMING BACK. WHEN THE PIECES START FALLING INTO PLACE, IT'S JUST SO DAMN PRETTY TO WATCH.

U15A HARBORD / MANLY

This squad has enjoyed many years of success during their time together and 2014 was no exception. A number of new faces arrived as friends of current players. The coaching ranks were also bolstered with the inclusion of Brendan Joel 'BJ' Hartmann, a Manly 1st XV player with exposure to the Wallabies 7s scene, who joined us off the back of some coaching he did for the 7s squad that represented Manly last year in an overseas tournament.

For the past two years, the competition as a whole has been suffering as player numbers fall away with boys starting high school and becoming involved in different sports and activities. We've been fortunate enough to have a group of players and parents who are very supportive of the team, and have managed to keep things going, and wish to continue to do so next year too.

Our season started well enough with a strong win against Clovelly, but this was followed by a forfeit to Killara West Pymble when a number of our boys left early for school holidays or were ill. Once back from holidays, the team settled into a pretty decent run. We lost a few games we could have won, and won a few games we should have lost. However the most pleasing aspect was the way the team were developing their game.

Under the guidance of BJ, the backs found an extra yard of pace, coupled with a few extra moves, and we started to make good inroads into the opposition defence. Likewise, the forwards elected to get to training half an hour earlier to spend more time on scrums and lineouts. This investment served us well and we frequently pushed around larger teams loaded with rep players.

All this hard work came to fruition in round 8 when we won away at Hunters Hill against a squad pretty much entirely comprising rep players. Our never-say-die attitude was outstanding and you felt at the final whistle the boys had really pulled together and bonded as a team. This win was followed by great results against Lindfield and Clovelly. The players were expressing themselves and working together as a team like we had never seen before. The rugby we were watching was fast, attractive, skilful and tactically aware.

The highlight of the season for many of us was a game we played under lights at Manly Oval. We had agreed to move a game against Clovelly as they were unable to field a side during the normal weekend fixture schedule and Manly were good enough to allow us to use the oval mid-week. The boys won a closely fought contest, but once again the striking aspect was the manner in which they bonded and drew strength from each other to get the result they deserved.

Soon after this game, the season started to splutter and cough! A round was washed out, then Lindfield were unable to field a team, so we won on forfeit. Therefore as we approached the finals, we found ourselves a bit short on match practice. Coupled with the loss of a number of players to season-ending injuries, our cohesive and attractive game plan started to creak and groan. The players never threw in the towel - they always fought to the last - but with a diminishing squad, the opportunity to further our credentials in the competition would prove to be a bridge too far.

The greatest success this season was the close bond the players developed as a group of friends. The players may go to different schools, but when they get together you can see the enjoyment they get from each other's company. They stood strong in the face of adversity on the field and enjoyed their mateship off it.

I would like to sign off by thanking all the parents for their continued support, which means more to the players and coaches than they know, and also thank the management/coaching team of Andrew Sidery, James Haywood, BJ Hartman and Sean Richardson for their tireless efforts.

I'm looking forward to next year already!

Tim Herbert, Coach

U16B MANLY BARBARIANS

With 16 players registered for the Harlequins U16s this season, we decided to merge with Manly Roos, who had 10 players, giving us a squad of 26. This sounds like too many, but at times it was only just enough, as boys this age have lots of conflicting activities, plus the physicality of the game means there are injuries, and we had several broken bones.

Last year's merger partners, the Seaforth U16 side, folded because U16s rugby league is played on Sundays, which took away most of their players.

Like last season, we played as Manly Barbarians, training and playing at Keirle Park. This was advantageous for us as this ground is never closed.

Again we had the issue of merging teams and individuals who had been rivals for years, but it didn't take the boys long to forget the years of village club rivalry and combine to play an expansive style of rugby which always kept spectators entertained.

The boys started slowly, but had a great mid-season run, when most of our best players were available, to get into the semi finals.

A SQUAD OF 26 SOUNDS LIKE TOO MANY, BUT AT TIMES IT WAS ONLY JUST ENOUGH, AS BOYS THIS AGE HAVE LOTS OF CONFLICTING ACTIVITIES, PLUS THE PHYSICALITY OF THE GAME MEANS THERE ARE INJURIES, AND WE HAD SEVERAL BROKEN BONES.

About half the squad played for the Manly rep side and did extremely well, especially considering a number had never played rep rugby before.

Several players developed their skills and fitness considerably over the season. It was hard to pick the George Smith Award, with Mitchell Weir just edging out Jimi Smith. Jimi got the Team Player Award as he played anywhere he was asked and was versatile enough to be effective at prop, hooker, flanker and even centre. Isaac Williams came back to rugby after a few years out of the game and developed into a very effective and industrious second row and back row option, with an excellent lineout jump, and was a deserved winner of the Most Improved Award.

Four boys received their 10-year long service medals, which was great to see – Zach Harvey, Thomas Pizzie, Nason Pybus and Cameron Signorini.

I had the good luck to coach with two Roos coaches, Murray Jonas and Nick Booth, both excellent technical coaches who definitely helped develop the skills of the Harlequins boys, and having three coaches made it much easier for all.

We hope all the players and families enjoyed the season as a merged entity and we hope to have enough boys back next season to go again.
